

WELCOME

Youth Pastor/Leader,

“Do this and the lights will turn on...” (Isaiah 58:8)

In a world that is increasingly directing its energy towards pushing our students to have more and focus more on self, the prophet Isaiah issues a challenge that is counter to our culture. Standing up for justice, feeding the hungry, providing shelter to the homeless and clothes to the naked are the center of the challenge. For if we can live out this unselfish and sacrificial life, a SPARK will occur – the light will come on! Then, God says through his servant, we will hear from heaven and see light rise in darkness.

We are inviting you to our second SPARK conference that has been created and designed to help light the fire of action amongst this generation of youth and young adults. On May 13-15, we are calling students to 565 Kenmount Road in St. John’s to be challenged and prepped to carry out this mandate. Yes this weekend will be about hearing from the word of God and worshipping together, but we want to take it a step further. The Saturday afternoon of SPARK will be all about giving back and demonstrating love and mercy to our Capital city and surrounding area.

Bringing the challenge from the Word of God to the students and young adults gathered will be Paul Fraser. Paul oversees the next generation ministries for the Alberta and Northwest Territories district of the PAOC. He is a dynamic speaker and will challenge our registrants to the core! Leading worship for the weekend will be Angie Rogers. Angie is very passionate about worshipping God through song and music, and her desire is to see the youth and young adults to powerfully connect with God!

We will have some local flavor leading the breakout sessions on Saturday morning and are presenting an incredible opportunity for the parents of teens/young adults to be involved as well. Pastor Glen Newman is preparing to do a seminar for parents on the Saturday morning surrounding the issue of drug use and abuse amongst our youth culture. This will serve as an invaluable tool for parents and we encourage you to spread the word about this. More information re: sign up and location for this session will be released soon.

Please download the poster, registration forms, and schedule, and make plans to join us on May 13-15. We will be posting video updates on the website (www.shelteryouth.com/spark) periodically.
